DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 15, 16, 26, 31, 34, 39 and 41 – 50 are allowed over prior art of record.

Reasons for Allowance

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

After further search consideration of Applicants' amendment filed on August 8, 2009, it is determined that prior art of record neither anticipates nor renders obvious the claimed subject matter of the instant application as a whole either taken alone or in combination, in particular, prior art of record does not teach "wherein each of the semiconductor devices includes at least some of the adjacent, edge-defined, nanometer-pitched sidewalls that form the nanometer-pitched channels and wherein each of the semiconductor devices includes a plurality of the nanometer-pitched channels," as recited in claim 15, "wherein each of the semiconductor devices includes at least some of the adjacent, edge-defined, nanometer-pitched sidewalls that form the nanometer-pitched channels and wherein each of the electromechanical devices includes a plurality of the nanometer-pitched channels," as recited in claim 16, "wherein the semiconductor device includes the channel; a fourth sidewall of nanometer-scale dimensions formed in the channel; fifth and sixth sidewalls of nanometer-scale dimensions on opposite sides of the fourth sidewall to form a mushroom-shaped structure; and wherein the mushroom-shaped structure comprises a gate material for a semiconductor device," as recited in claim 26, "at least one micrometer-scale feature being located in or on the semiconductor substrate; and at least one nanometer-scale feature being located in or on the micrometer-scale feature, the nanometer-scale feature being defined using edge definition lithography, wherein the micrometer-scale feature comprises a channel formed in the substrate and the nanometer scale feature comprises a sidewall located in the channel,” as recited in claim 39, “at least one nanometer-scale feature being located in or on the micrometer-scale feature, the nanometer-scale feature being defined using edge definition lithography, wherein the micrometer-scale feature comprises a mesa and the nanometer-scale feature comprises a sidewall located on top of the mesa,” as recited in claim 41, “at least one nanometer-scale feature being located in or on the micrometer-scale feature, the nanometer-scale feature being defined using edge definition lithography, wherein the micrometer-scale feature comprises a channel or hole being defined by the substrate and wherein the nanometer-scale feature comprises a channel located in a masking material deposited in the hole,” as recited in claim 42, “at least one nanometer-scale feature being located in or on the micrometer-scale feature, the nanometer-scale feature being defined using edge definition lithography, wherein the micrometer-scale feature comprises a mesa located on the substrate and wherein the nanometer-scale feature comprises a channel located in a masking material deposited on the mesa,” as recited in claim 43, “the second semiconductor material being different from the first semiconductor material; and a gate electrode being located on the substrate between the source and drain electrodes, the gate electrode being formed using edge definition lithography and wherein the gate electrode includes a first portion that extends outward from the substrate and a second portion that extends in a direction transverse to the first portion and overhangs the substrate,” as recited in claim 44, and “a nanometer-scale emitter being defined on the base layer using edge definition lithography, wherein the emitter extends outward from the base layer,” as recited in claim 50 respectively.

Claims 31, 38 and 45-49 are also allowed as being directly or indirectly dependent of the allowed independent base claim.

Conclusion

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
